

George Reiter Candidate Statement

I see the challenge of the next years as the creation of more effective means for conflict resolution over station goals, within the context of the mission, and mechanisms for the development of consensus over goals put in place.

I am familiar with parliamentary procedure, and would be effective in using those procedures to facilitate the work of the LSB in doing that.

The Program Council was a step in this direction, but more is needed. In particular, there needs to be a mechanism for programmers to appeal removal from the air or other sanctions by management, where such decisions can be reviewed to see if they are fair, based on clearly stated and shared goals. And changed if need be.

I would like to see the communication between the volunteer programmers increased, and a means of cooperating on programming themes explored. Our volunteer programmers are well known in the various communities of Houston, and I would work to create a means to make better use of programmer contacts in the city for outreach.
